List of Books	1
List of Publishers	60

INTRODUCTION.

The following list is not intended to be a complete bibliography. The books selected are for the most part recent, inexpensive and accessible, together with such others as are indispensable to the adequate study of the subject.

Different standards have been adopted in the selection of books for different parts of the list. For instance, only a few of the best books on early and mediæval history are given ; while, on the other hand, an attempt has been made to include every important book issued as part of the Socialist propaganda during recent years. With the exception of some American books, only works obtainable in the United Kingdom have been included, and the majority deal with English problems. It has been impossible to find space even for representative specimens of those local records and reports which must be the chief sources of any thorough and original study of social history. A few periodical publications have been included ; but, with one or two exceptions, magazine articles have not been mentioned, although much of the best results of modern controversy and enquiry is to be read only in that form.

Few public libraries yet contain all the books here mentioned ; and all who desire to promote serious study of social subjects are urged to induce any libraries with which they are connected to obtain as many of them as possible.

Where books are no longer stocked by the original publisher every endeavor has been made to give the name of the publisher (or bookseller) from whom they are now to be obtained.

The earlier editions of this list were prepared by Graham Wallas, Sidney Webb, and many others. The present edition includes "More Books to Read," the Supplement to the last edition ; and the new books have been selected by the Secretary, Edw. R. Pease, with advice and assistance from Miss B. L. Hutchins, Geo. H. Wood, F.S.S., and many others. F. James Matheson, till recently Secretary of the British Institute of Social Service, and now of P. S. King & Son, has given much help, especially in the selection of Government Reports and official publications, and the whole has been revised before publication by Sidney Webb.

NOTE ON BIBLIOGRAPHIES.

FOR modern books, much the best and handiest general subject-catalogue is W. S. Sonnenschein's "Best Books" (Routledge, 1910, in three parts, each 14s. net. Part I. deals with theology, mythology and philosophy; Part II. with sociology (including law and education), geography and history, etc.; Part III. with the sciences, the arts and trades, and literature and philology). An invaluable work is the "Subject Index of the Modern Works added to the Library of the British Museum in the years 1881-1900," edited by G. K. Fortescue, LL.D.; published for the British Museum by Longmans and Quaritch in 3 vol. (1902-3) at 10s. per vol. The same for the years 1901-5, in 1 vol. (1906), 40s. Messrs. Nelson have now in the press and will shortly publish, "Standard Books," which will be one of the best guides in existence. This work will contain classified lists of the 10,000 best books in every department of literature, with a general index of 50,000 references, and 10 bibliographical maps. It will be published in 4 vol. at a subscription price of 84s. The International Institute of Social Bibliography, 57 Chancery Lane, London, W.C., issues a full monthly Bibliography in all languages on Social Science, published by P. S. King & Son at 2s. a copy or 24s. a year, post free. The Economic Review (5s. net) publishes quarterly a comprehensive and select guide to economic literature, and the Institut International de Bibliographie issues monthly its Bibliographia Economica Universalis, a most complete, closely classified list of books and articles on economics and social science in all languages. The Library Association also issues annually its "Best Books" (1s. 6d. net).

For old books the reader should consult Watts' "Bibliotheca Britannica," o.p., which gives English books published before 1824, under subjects and under authors. Many articles in the "Encyclopædia Britannica," the "Dictionary of National Biography" (Smith Elder), and the "Dictionary of Political Economy" (Macmillan), have short but well-chosen bibliographies appended to them. The twelve volumes of the "Cambridge Modern History" contain extensive and valuable bibliographical lists, including works of all countries.

For parliamentary papers consult the "Classified Catalogue," 1801-1900, published by P. S. King and Son at 7s. 6d., and the subsequent lists issued monthly.

Every paper printed in any important magazine, from the beginning of the century to 1882, will be found catalogued under its subject, in Poole's "Index to Periodical Literature" (Kegan Paul. 73s. 6d. net). The following further Supplements can be obtained of Kegan Paul:—1882-86, 36s.; 1887-91, 40s. net; 1892-96, 50s. net; 1897-1902, 50s. net, and 1902-07, 50s. net. The method of reference, which is rather complicated, is explained in the introduction. The "Annual Literary Index," edited by W. L. Fletcher and R. R. Bowker (New York; Office of the Publishers' Circular) is an annual Supplement. The "Index and Guide to Periodicals," issued annually to 1902 by the Review of Reviews, gives in each issue a complete index to contents of periodicals of the previous year. Palmer's "Index to the Times" (quarterly 10s.), and "The Times Index" (monthly, 30s. a year), are the best guides to current events.

Dietrich's "Bibliographie der Deutschen Zeitschriften-Litteratur" is an annual index to German periodical literature; and Jordell's "Repertoire bibliographique des principales revues francaises" fulfils the same office for France.

The above bibliographies and catalogues are in the British Museum Reading-room, and in the British Library for Political Science.

When the books appearing in the following pages contain useful bibliographies, this fact is usually mentioned. In some cases special bibliographies are given at the foot of the section.

A number of manuscript bibliographies and a large collection of official reports of all countries, and of specialist books and pamphlets (many of the latter now out of print) are open to readers in the British Library of Political Science at the London School of Economics, Clare Market, W.C.

For books giving the Roman Catholic point of view on economic questions and social reform generally, "Books for Social Students," 32 pp. (Catholic Truth Society, 69 Southwark Bridge Road, S.E.), price 1d., will be found useful.

Poor Law.

[The greatest store of information and suggestions as to policy is now the voluminous report and appendices of the royal commission on the poor laws and relief of distress, published in about fifty bluebook volumes, 1909-10. The report itself, including the dissents and the minority report, can be had in octavo form (vols. i. and ii., the majority report, price 2/3; vol. iii., the minority report, price 1/9). Convenient pocket editions of the minority report alone, in good type, without footnotes and references, are published in 2 vols., at 1s. each, by the National Committee for the Prevention of Destitution, 37 Norfolk Street, Strand, London, W.C. An edition in 2 vol., bound in cloth, edited, with two introductions, by Sidney and Beatrice Webb, is published by Longmans (vol. i., The break up of the poor law, price 7/6 net; vol. ii., The public organization of the labor market, price 5s. net). The best summary (of the majority report alone) is the volume by Mrs. Bosanquet, entitled The poor law report of 1909 (Macmillan, 3/6). Summaries of both reports (none adequate) are: The Daily News Year Book for 1910, 6d.; the reports on the poor law, by Sir John Gorst (National Committee, 1d); By what authority? by Professor Muirhead (King, 2s. net); New poor law or no poor law, with introduction by Canon Barnett (Dent, 1s. net); Synopsis of the report (Knight & Co., 1s.).
